We believe that every individual has certain basic human needs beyond educational needs which must be addressed by the school through a student-centered guidance and counseling curriculum. Roosevelt S.T.A.Y. serves as a model for public institutions by providing the best possible educational programs, management and accountability systems, personnel and leadership in meeting its goals. To that end, Roosevelt S.T.A.Y. is committed to the establishing practices and programs which empower students to take control of their own intellectual, physical, emotional, and social well being.
